

2018 Ridership

It appears that there is a substantial loss in ridership this month as opposed to last month. In September there were only 19 operating days as opposed to 23 operating days in August. However, we still saw a slight reduction in average daily ridership between the two months. 266 in September as opposed to 274 in August. The Demand response service also includes two Saturdays where we ran the special service for the Buckeye games.

2018 Operations Detail

Average daily ridership for fixed routes stayed fairly stable but demand response ridership was down especially in the contract category. This could possibly be due to back to school and end of summer.
